The TANDEMKROSS Captured Spring Rod for the SR22 is an excellent upgrade for your Ruger SR22. The guide rod is made of stainless steel to last a lifetime and the improved spring is stronger and 'captured' so it is easier to install and wont get lost. Best of all, the TANDEMKROSS Captured Spring Rod has smooth stainless steel polished "nose" on it -- no unsightly screw like other brands. By replacing your factory guide rod with the TANDEMKROSS Captured spring rod, you will see less up and down movement of the slide as it is stiffer than the plastic factory rod. This is a simple drop in replacement that will improve the performance of your Ruger SR22. Smooth "nose" on the end of the guide rod with no exposed screw head Stainless steel guide rod replaces plastic guide in factory SR22 Captured spring makes installation easy
