Optics & Mounting > Rings, Mounts & Bases > Mount Sets

When it comes to rifle-mounted optics, having a quick-detach option can be a game-changer in the field. This allows users to swap to a back-up sight option easily without a mounted scope getting in the way of their close-range shots. The Scalarworks LEAP Scope Mount is designed to provide shooters with this functionality. Each Scalarworks LEAP Scope Mount is machined from hardened 7075-T6 billet aluminum and uses a precision-machined hinge that surrounds an optic. The company's Quantum Quick-Detach mechanism protects against recoil while also striking a balance between the torque needed for a secure hold onto a rifle while also allowing it to be detached in less than 3 seconds. Black-oxide finish Fits 30mm and 34 mm main-body tubes Weight: 5.46 to 5.56 ounces Made in the USA Other stand-out features of the Scalarworks LEAP Scope Mount is a scalloped design that both lightens and strengthens the mount, as well as wider rings that provide increase surface area for more-secure mounting.
