Built With the Same Features as Military-Contract Arms

Reed Knight and Knight's Armament Company made a name in the AR-style rifle world by taking the proven concept behind the AR-15 and AR .308 platforms and taking them to new heights. Now, the same design relied on by the U.S. military's top warfighters can be yours, thanks to this commercially offered Knight's Armament SR-25 lower receiver, which is built with the same features and quality as the company's military-contract arms. Each Knight's Armament SR-25 lower receiver includes the completely ambidextrous layout that Knight's guns are known for, including the ambi bolt release, selector switch and magazine release. In addition, this 7.62 NATO lower also comes with Knight's drop-in, two-stage trigger design.
